

Simplifying the Business of Healthcare

Emdeon Third-Party Liability Analysis

Reducing claim overpayments by identifying primary carrier responsibility

Leveraging network relationships to facilitate data exchange among government and commercial payers

Mapping Medicaid claim data to commercial payers' eligibility rosters

Dramatic revenue recovery opportunities

Emdeon understands Medicaid's challenges in determining potential primary carriers, receiving viable eligibility rosters from commercial payers and recognizing borderline or dual eligible patients. Emdeon Third-Party Liability Analysis helps Medicaid plans recover overpaid claim dollars through comprehensive analysis and eligibility mapping of Medicaid claim data to commercial payers' eligibility files.

The Emdeon Advantage

Leveraging the industry's most comprehensive payer connectivity with a history of partnering with government payers, Emdeon Third-Party Liability Analysis seamlessly manages the process of identifying commercial payers with primary carrier responsibility. Emdeon's extensive industry reach, coupled with a deep understanding of Medicaid administration, enables Emdeon to offer the most accurate and comprehensive third-party liability (TPL) determinations available.

TPL solutions for the industry

With the passage of the Deficit Reduction Act, commercial payers recognize their growing responsibility to make eligibility rosters available in order to comply with Department of Health and Human Services' (DHHS) legislation.

With the most connections to government and commercial payers in the industry, Emdeon is expertly poised with existing infrastructure to streamline this process of information exchange and interpretation. Emdeon Third-Party Liability Analysis helps Medicaid plans recover revenue and overcome associated challenges, as well as helps commercial payers comply with DHHS legislation.
