

Emdeon Address Verification

How many of your patient invoices are returned as undeliverable?

Improve your delivery success rate with Emdeon Address Verification.

The American populace continues to be on the move. According to the United States Census Bureau, more than 38.7 million people moved within the United States between 2006 and 2007.

As a result of the nation's continual population shift, keeping track of patients can prove to be quite difficult. To help your facility manage its Accounts Receivables, Emdeon has developed a solution to help you locate delinquent account holders. Whether you need to locate a patient's current address or a previous one, Emdeon Address Verification can help.

Patient care is the purpose of your business, but making good business decisions is what makes that possible. Emdeon Address Verification is a tool to help you confirm a patient's address and improve your bottom line. After all, effective collections are essential for your facility's success, so improve your patient contact records and reduce your volume of returned mail.

Why Address Verification?

Verifying a patient's address has never been easier. Simply provide us with your patient's social security number and we'll do the rest. In a matter of seconds, we can confirm a current address or locate a new one for your patient – all while the patient is present during the registration or admission process. Utilizing Emdeon Address Verification during the registration process will enable you to confirm inaccurate information or locate missing information immediately. Your collections will also be more efficient so you can recover more outstanding bills with less effort. You will then be able to allocate your resources to what really counts – your patients.
