Emdeon Revenue and Reimbursement Analytics

Maximize reimbursements. Reduce write-offs

As the diversity of payment options grow and health plans become more complex, providers require dynamic solutions to help uncover every possible avenue for reimbursement. The dramatic increase in the self-pay population has also made it more important for healthcare providers to verify key information at the outset of each patient encounter.

Emdeon Revenue and Reimbursement Analytics delivers automated batch screenings of patient account information so providers capture more revenue before and after patient visits. These unique services leverage all available patient data to search for key information in government programs and payer databases resulting in increased revenue collection and reduced bad-debt write-offs for providers.

Emdeon Pre-Encounter Analytics

Process patient information in batch form before the delivery of care

Features:

- Screen patients before scheduled visits
- Perform fully automated processing
- Fast turnaround on reports

Benefits:

- Increase revenue
- Reduce instances of incorrect or missing data
- Streamline the registration process
- Assist in improving up front collections

Emdeon Pre-Encounter Analytics can help “triage” patients’ financial situations before they arrive by quickly and accurately obtaining eligibility and benefits information. Batches of patient data for the next day’s scheduled patients are sent to the Emdeon health information network before the start of business thereby eliminating any manual work and delays at the time of patient registration.

Using logic driven searches that are tailored to each provider’s needs and information on state specific search requirements, Emdeon returns user friendly reports with details on benefits eligibility, pre-authorizations, address verification and claim status to give providers the information needed to maximize revenue collection opportunities.

Emdeon DSH Reimbursement Analytics

Protect your bottom line by getting the most from DSH payments

Features:

- Advanced patient matching criteria
- Customizable, user-friendly reporting
- Data warehousing
- Audit and cost report preparation support

Benefits:

- Potentially large influx of DSH reimbursement
- Efficiently determine the total number of eligible days for Medicaid and Medicare
- Outstanding Return-on-Investment

In many states, Disproportionate Share Hospital (DSH) payments provide a vital safety net for hospitals and healthcare networks who remain dedicated to providing care for low income and vulnerable patient populations. Getting the most complete and accurate amount possible from DSH payments is important to the financial health of affected healthcare providers.

Emdeon DSH Reimbursement Analytics utilizes advanced technology to develop accurate calculations of eligible days for their DSH reporting needs. By processing hospital patient data, Emdeon is able to provide the critical Medicaid, Medicare and SSI eligibility documentation that is essential for preparing an accurate cost report. The thorough and efficient process Emdeon DSH Reimbursement Analytics delivers could provide a substantial increase in federal DSH reimbursement that benefits providers, patients and the entire community.
